Cardiff Bin with lid, single post mounting for ground anchoring

This immensely popular design outsells any others we manufacture by a considerable margin. It will survive in environments where other designs will not, perhaps because the very appearance seems to discourage attack by vandals. When our competitors' bins have fallen apart, try one of these!

It is particularly resistant to damage caused by fire, which seems to be the final fate of most bins. There is an opening handle, which also acts as a bump stop to protect the slats when the door is opened.
